EXPERIENCES

RecipesCalendar- Full-Stack Developer AGO 21 -SEP 21

- I worked with my bootcamp classmates developing a non traditional e-commerce website which provides a customized diet service through a monthly subscription. In the front-end we worked with React-Redux and in the Back-End we worked with Express. For the database we used MongoDB.

Travel APP -Full-Stack Developer JUL 21-AGO 21 SPA Project (Single Page Aplication)

- While I was in the bootcamp, I had to develope a website with the following conditions: In the Front-End I had to use React-Redux without using any external libraries and in the Back-End, the server had to be mounted in Express.Js and PossgresSQL for the DB. For the website design I used only CSS. The project works using an external API and stores the data in the database to be used and handled in the App, having different types of functions such as filtering, pagination, searching and creating a form.
